IN GREAT FALLS.

Great Falls, Aug. 17.—In a social way this city has been decidedly quiet during the week and few notable events have occurred in the realms of what is termed elite society. This is perhaps largely due to the absence from town of many society leaders, who are killing time and having royal fun beside some bubbling mountain streams at Monarch, Highlands, Hound Creek, Logging creek or other choice locations for a good outing, where they can fish, hunt, lay around in hammock and tell stories in loose and comfortable garments without thinking of the necessities of getting out on dress parade in brilliantly lighted and decorated parlors to astonish others with the originality and magnificence of new costumes. These little outings are enjoyable in other ways; they offer an opportunity for the ladies to tell marvelous tales of the grandeur of mountain scenery and the size, weight and number of trout caught; the size of bear tracks discovered and the beauty of the antelope and elk they ran across but failed to shoot. Of course these stories are all true and interesting to those who by reason of circumstances have been unable to jam "our set" on these little excursions.

Mrs. Robert S. Ford gave a piazza breakfast to a number of friends at the Park hotel Tuesday morning and another Friday morning. Twelve or more ladies were pleasantly and handsomely entertained on these occasions, and a very pleasant time is reported by those honored with invitations.

Mrs. M. S. Cummins, president of the Montana university at Helena was in the city this week the guest of friends.

Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Pelzer are enjoying an outing at Monarch, the pretty summer resort in the sluce-bottom country, where they will spend the week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Rocky of Lincoln, Neb., and Miss Carrie Webster of this city, former pleasant party who spent Wednesday in visiting the great falls of the Missouri and other interesting points below the city.

R. E. Chadwick left Thursday morning for Lawrence, Kan., to resume his studies in the law department of the state university. He expects to graduate the following year from Harvard university and then return to this city and locate.

The little folks of the different Sunday schools and their annual picnic this week and enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

Mrs. M. M. Lyter and her guest, Miss Katherine M. Porey of St. Louis, returned by rail Wednesday morning from the Yellowstone National park.

The opera of "Red Riding Hood's Rescue" or "The Dangers of Diabolism," will be given in the opera house next week for the benefit of the Children's Home society, a progressing society. It will be given by about 70 of the young people of Great Falls, and promises to be quite a treat for music lovers. The cast of characters will appear later, as also a more complete description of the worthy charity for which the entertainment is given.

Black Eagle court No. 1106 of the Order of Foresters Tuesday night, celebrated the anniversary of the organization of the court in this city by giving a musical entertainment and banquet at Elks' hall. Those present reported an enjoyable evening.

The Misses Twigg, Duff and Cockrill and Messrs. Ridgely and Bruce returned Tuesday from an outing at Logging creek. They were as brown as berries, but report an enjoyable trip.

Detective Guerin returned Thursday from a visit of several days at Helena, Butte and Anaconda. He visited Guerin at the latter city and reports it the liveliest town in the state.

William Albright wears a happy smile over the advent of a son and heir. This is a new departure for Mr. Albright, and he now lingers lovingly over every baby carriage and high chair he has in his store for some reason or other.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gaunt have returned from a protracted visit through the Southwest. Mr. Gaunt says he visited a good many lively towns in the South, but is content to remain at the Electric city in the future.

IN BILLINGS.

Billings, Aug. 17.—The little friends of Miss Marguerite Smith spent a very delightful afternoon on Wednesday, when she celebrated her fifth birthday, by giving a lawn party. The little ones played games and fairy songs with all the energy which, to the surprise of older people, seems unabated by the hot weather. They also did full justice to the delicious refreshments which consisted of ice cream, cake, lemonade and candies. The little hostess was the recipient of numerous pretty presents. The children present were: Aggie Burton, Jennie, Gertrude and Mamie Crow, Edna and Della Gildford, Anna, Esther and Teddie Dunn, Mary Hill, Mary Peters, Kate Matheson, Julia Peters, Olive and Teddie TenEyck and Robert Perce.

IN BOZEMAN.

Bozeman, Mont., Aug. 17.—The production of the comic opera "Little Tycoon," on Thursday evening, by Bozeman amateurs, was the musical event of the season, and was thoroughly enjoyed by a large and fashionable audience.

Mrs. Hersey has improved in voice to a noticeable degree since her last appearance here, and sang and played the part of Violet with an ease and freedom that deserves a large field.

Mr. Firch as Alvin was very fair, and his solos were much enjoyed, his duets with Mrs. Hersey being exceptionally good. Liddell's character of an English duke, well costumed and his makeup was excellent. John Walsh as Rufus Ready, was taken with full appreciation of the part. Stevenson as General Knickerbocker, was very much at home with the exception of the spoken parts, which caused a hesitation.

Not present in his songs which were well sung. Miss Joe Van Tassel as Miss Hurricane, entered fully into the spirit of the part, and was in excellent form. Miss Margaret as Polly Dimple, although her first appearance on any stage, was noticeable for the excellence of her work. James Keown as Teddy and the minor parts were fairly well done.

The fancy dance in costume by the Misses Cook and Martin in the first act and the Spanish dance in costume by Annabelle Flowers, were surprises to the audience and received well merited accolades. The chorus singing was strong and full, and for contrasted voices showed much careful drilling. Special scenery and good costumes made up the best local performance of the kind ever given here. Manager Livingston has been trying for a long time to get the younger voices of our city together, believing that much could be made of them if properly trained, and after the long hard and aggravating experience of training these amateurs for their first appearance upon the stage there is due Mr. Livingston the thanks of an appreciative public in the unbounded success of this first effort at opera in Bozeman.

"The Little Tycoon" will be presented at the Heffner opera house at Livingston Saturday evening, the 40 members of the company going over in teams from here starting at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

An informal reception given by a committee of the ladies of Bozeman to the commander-in-chief of the National Guard of Montana, Gov. J. E. Rickards, and staff, at the pleasant residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cooper, was a pleasant break from camp life for the staff officers present, as well as a pleasure to the people of Bozeman, who were thus enabled to meet both the governor and his staff. The beautiful lawn and the beautiful view of the city, were enjoyed by the guests.

General and Mrs. C. F. Lloyd and Mrs. Holloway from Helena; Gen. C. S. Curtis, Helena; Gen. and Mrs. A. J. Davis, Butte; Col. H. S. Blanchard, Clearwater; Col. A. H. Hattaway, Billings; Col. H. C. "Uncle Billy" Berry, for many years past assessor of Missoula county, was in Bozeman and at Fort Ellis the past week. "Uncle Billy" passed through the Gallatin valley on the back of a broncho 32 years ago, but says there has been a change in these parts since then.

Dave D. Bogart, state examiner of county records, and his clerk, E. W. Stetson, both of Missoula, were in "Bozeman the Beautiful" this week and although putting in a good deal of time at the county clerk's office, found a few hours' leisure in which to look over the camp of 500 blue coats at Fort Ellis.

W. J. Stevenson, who had the part of General Knickerbocker in "The Little Tycoon," on Friday evening, was presented with a large feather duster during the performance by an admiring friend. Just what was meant by this "Steve" did not know, but thought it must be meant for a dude's cravat and carefully smelling the pretty flower he wore it on the lapel of his coat, much pleased with the beautiful posy.

Carlos Warfield, assessor of Silver Bow county, was a Bozeman visitor this week.

C. W. Pitts, traveling passenger agent for the Great Northern railroad, was in Bozeman Tuesday.

D. D. Smith of the Gallatin Valley Mercantile company, returned from a purchasing trip East the first of the week.

John D. Riter, the wealthy grain merchant of Butte, was a Bozeman visitor the last of the week.
